

Compliment Him

In the beginning God created humanity male and female. How do male and female complement each other in humanity? Or more specifically, how can male and female complement each other Biblically in God's new humanity, the church?

Grace Evangelical Church, Newcastle Inc. in partnership with *Moore College's Priscilla and Aquila Centre, is hosting a one day conference to consider how men and women can better work together in the church as they seek to take the message of Jesus to the world. Mark Thompson will lay the foundation with two talks from Genesis 1-2 followed by electives where specific issues will be explored.

*Moore College's Priscilla and Aquila Centre has been established to promote further thinking about the practice of Christian ministry by women in partnership with men.

About the speakers and electives:

A. Jim Ramsay 'Encouraging women in lay ministry'

Jim was a rector for over 30 years in Sydney, before he and his wife, Lesley worked for Evangelism Ministries doing itinerant evangelistic speaking. Although now officially retired, they still do a lot of itinerant speaking on a whole range of topics. Jim and Lesley have 4 adult children and several grandchildren

B. Cathy Young 'Women's ministry: the many opportunities God has given one woman over the years'

This elective will take the form of an interview and will include many aspects of being a woman in ministry. Cathy is married to Jamie and they have 2 young boys, Jacob and J.J.

C. Mark Thompson 'Unity? Equality? Is one more Biblical?'

Mark is the head of the Theology, Ethics & Philosophy Dept at Moore College. He is married to Kathryn and they have 4 young daughters.

D. Tara Stenhouse 'Women's ministry: a personal reflection (The implications of Gen 1-3 for a woman in vocational ministry.)'

Tara is the Dean of Women at Moore College, and in the Ministry Dept.

Note: You will have the choice of Elective A or B in session three. In session four you can choose Elective C or D.
